2026 CDT CODE UPDATES FOR TEXAS MEDICAID AND CHIP DENTAL PROVIDERS

The American Dental Association (ADA) published the 2026 Current Dental Terminology (CDT) Code Manual. Changes that affect Texas Medicaid and CHIP dental benefits apply to dates of service on or after January 1, 2026.

Medicaid dental providers should review the updates below to support proper billing practices and maintain compliance with program requirements.

Discontinued CDT Codes

The following CDT codes are no longer covered by Texas Medicaid and CHIP and will not be reimbursed for services performed after December 31, 2025:

- D1352—Preventive resin restoration for permanent teeth in patients with moderate to high caries risk
- D9248—Non-intravenous conscious sedation

Claims submitted using these discontinued codes for 2026 dates of service will be denied.

CDT Descriptor Updates

Several CDT codes remain covered but include revised descriptions in the 2026 CDT manual. Providers are encouraged to review the updated manual for complete details. Affected codes include D0180, D5863–D5866, D5934–D5935, and D9222–D9243.

New Sedation CDT Codes Effective in 2026

Four new CDT codes have been established to replace D9248. Providers may begin billing these codes for services rendered on or after January 1, 2026, provided claims are submitted within the 95-day timely filing window. The new codes are:

- D9244—In-office administration of minimal sedation, single drug, enteral
- D9245—Administration of moderate sedation, enteral
- D9246—Moderate sedation, non-intravenous parenteral, first 15-minute increment
- D9247—Moderate sedation, non-intravenous parenteral, each additional 15-minute increment

The Texas Health and Human Services Commission (HHSC) has scheduled a rate hearing for these new dental codes in March 2026. In advance of that hearing, the Texas Dental Association’s Council on Public Health and Access to Care is developing recommended reimbursement amounts and plans to submit those recommendations to HHSC by the end of January 2026.

Sedation Permit Requirements

Medicaid dental providers must hold the appropriate permit for the level of sedation delivered:

- D9244—Level 1 Minimal Sedation permit
- D9245—Level 2 Moderate Enteral Sedation permit
- D9246/D9247—Level 3 Moderate Parenteral Sedation permit

Billing Reminder

To reduce the risk of claim denials or compliance concerns, providers should ensure that all claims accurately reflect the services performed and that the CDT code selected aligns with the clinical care provided. ■

Dr David Al Duncan died at his home in Amarillo on December 31, 2025, surrounded by his friends and family. He battled cancer until the end, and a celebration of life services was held on January 8.

His local professional leadership quickly elevated him to state and national involvement in organized dentistry. In TDA, he served on DENPAC and committees and councils, including the Committee of New Dentists, Council on Dental Education, Trade, and Ancillaries, and the Council on Legislative and Regulatory Affairs (CLRA). He was the president of the association from 2014 to 2015. He is a fellow in the American College of Dentists and International College of Dentists. A “Day of Giving” for San Antonio Dentists and Alliance Members

Karen Cox, ATDA 4th Vice President, Publicity

Patients from the women’s home “Arms of Hope” and men from the “Sold Out Believers” Christian Fellowship lined up at 7:30 AM on November 21, 2026, outside of The Barn Dental Office where the big windmill distinguishes itself from other structures on Austin Highway in San Antonio.

Inside, Drs Gary Shults and Tyler Childs, 2 hygienists, auxiliary staff, and 1 lab technician stood ready to happily serve their patients. Also helping that day were local Alliance of the TDA (ATDA) members Susan Shults (Mrs Gary), Patty Taylor (Mrs Ben), and Karen Cox (Mrs David).

Dr Shults, known to his patients as The Barn Dentist, designated the Friday before Thanksgiving as a “Day of Giving” and has given free dental care for over 20 years. Services on this day included cleanings, restorative treatment, extractions and subsequently, 8 patients receiving dentures and 1 partial.

One patient exclaimed, “For all of us here it’s not part of our daily routine to think about taking care of our teeth. Cleanings and preventive care is too expensive, unless you have insurance. So, we are so thankful Dr Gary will see us.”

Susan, wife of The Barn Dentist, spearheads the annual event and described the day by saying, “It is organized chaos, but God is always present, and it has benefitted many people over the years.” Susan is an active member of the San Antonio Dental Alliance as well as a past ATDA president for 2020-21. She is passionate and fully committed to providing dental care to the underserved communities.

Dr Shults started his practice in 1991 across the highway. The current office is inside of a refurbished, historically preserved 1866 barn, literally transported log by log from Ohio. All the logs are hand-hewn. Over the years patients have contributed to the vintage farm decor by bringing in saddles, tools, windmill weights, old metal signs, etc. which gives it a great deal of character and creates a very inviting, comfortable atmosphere for patients. HIPAA Privacy Rules Change:

What Every Dental Practice Needs to Know Now

New federal privacy rules are prompting an important update for dental practices nationwide. The American Dental Association (ADA) has revised its sample HIPAA Notice of Privacy Practices to reflect stricter requirements on how substance use disorder (SUD) treatment information may be used and disclosed. HIPAA-covered dental practices must adopt this updated language by February 16, 2026. You can read the ADA news article titled “New HIPAA rules address substance use disorder records” for more information.

The change centers on records protected under 42 CFR Part 2, which applies to federally assisted substance use disorder diagnosis, treatment, or referral. Dentists may encounter these records through patient health histories or care coordination. Under the updated rules, these records receive heightened confidentiality protections and generally cannot be used against a patient in legal proceedings without patient consent or a qualifying court order.

The revised ADA notice also reminds dental practices that certain information—such as SUD records, mental health information, HIV-related data, and genetic information—may be subject to additional state or federal privacy protections.

Importantly, dental practices do not need to add language about reproductive health privacy. A federal court ruling in June 2025 struck down the requirement to include that information in HIPAA notices.

What Dentists Should Do

Dental practices should update their Notice of Privacy Practices with the new SUD language, provide it to new patients, make it available upon request, post it prominently in the office, and include it on the practice website if applicable. Electronic delivery is permitted when patients agree.

While the notice must be updated, all other HIPAA duties remain the same, including safeguarding patient information, obtaining required authorizations, and responding to data breaches. Practices should also review whether they receive Part 2 records, update internal policies and consent forms, and ensure staff are properly trained.

The updated ADA sample notice replaces prior versions in ADA HIPAA compliance materials, which have already been revised in their digital formats.

Texas Dentists: Don’t Overlook State Privacy Act Training Mandates

Because the new Part 2 rules qualify as a material change in federal law, Texas dental practices must also update employee training required under the Texas Medical Privacy Act. Affected employees must receive updated training within a reasonable time, but no later than one year after the law takes effect.

Staying current with these changes is not just about compliance; it is about protecting patients, reducing risk, and keeping your practice on solid legal ground. ■

TSBDE Rule Update

This recurring section is designed to help TDA members keep up with important Texas State Board of Dental Examiners (TSBDE) rules, other regulations, and state law affecting their practices.

Closing the Gap in Licensing Records: The TSBDE Fingerprinting Requirement Explained

Since June 2025, the Texas Dental Association (TDA) has been keeping members informed about a fingerprinting requirement from the Texas State Board of Dental Examiners (TSBDE) that took effect January 1, 2026. In early December, the TSBDE emailed dentists and dental hygienists whose licenses did not have a State Identification Number (SID) on file, explaining how to complete the requirement.

After those TSBDE emails went out, TDA heard from many dentists who wanted to better understand where this requirement came from and why it applies to them now.

How The TSBDE Fingerprint Notice Came About

In 2024, the Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS) conducted an audit of the TSBDE’s licensing records. That audit revealed that approximately 14,000 dentists and dental hygienists—primarily those licensed before 2016—did not have a SID in the licensing system. A SID is created when fingerprints are submitted and allows DPS to link criminal history information to a specific licensee.

Without a SID on file, the TSBDE cannot receive notifications if a licensee is arrested or involved in a reportable criminal matter. DPS advised the TSBDE that this gap needed to be corrected and recommended collecting SIDs from licensees whose records predated current fingerprinting practices.

It is important to emphasize that this audit did not create a new requirement. The TSBDE has required fingerprinting and criminal history evaluations for licensure since approximately 2009. The audit simply identified that older license records were created before today’s fingerprint-based system was fully implemented.

Legal Authority for Fingerprinting

Texas law clearly authorizes the TSBDE to require fingerprinting. Section 254.001 of the Texas Occupations Code allows the board to adopt rules necessary to carry out its responsibilities, enforce state dental laws, protect public health and safety, and regulate licensure.

Additionally, Section 411.12504 of the Texas Government Code expressly authorizes the TSBDE to obtain fingerprints for criminal history evaluations. The Legislature adopted this statute to ensure state licensing agencies follow uniform state and federal (FBI) background-check standards.

Why Fingerprinting and SIDs Are Necessary

Fingerprint-based background checks are a routine and well-established part of health care regulation in Texas. Physicians, nurses, behavioral health professionals, and many other licensed health care providers are subject to the same requirements.

These measures exist because health care professionals work closely with patients, including vulnerable populations, and have access to controlled substances and sensitive personal information. Fingerprinting provides a reliable way to confirm identity and allows licensing boards to receive timely notice of criminal history events that could affect a licensee’s ability to practice safely.

When a SID is on file, the TSBDE can receive prompt notifications from DPS about arrests or other reportable criminal activity. Without a SID, the board has no way to receive that information.

Clarifying Misconceptions and TDA’s Ongoing Advocacy

TDA has been actively engaged with the TSBDE throughout this process to ensure members receive clear, accurate information and that implementation is handled as smoothly and reasonably as possible.

TDA continues to advocate for transparency, fairness, and sensible regulation on behalf of dentists. This fingerprinting requirement is not a new “Big Brother” identification program, nor is it something TDA allowed to happen without scrutiny. The requirement has been in statute and rule for years, applies broadly across health professions, and is narrowly focused on public safety and regulatory oversight, not tracking dentists or collecting unnecessary personal information.

What is happening now simply closes a long-standing administrative gap affecting dental and dental hygiene licensees who were licensed before modern fingerprinting systems became standard.

For more information on the TSBDE, please contact TDA Senior Policy Manager Diane Rhodes at 512-443-3675 ext. 122, drhodes@tda.org.
